

CARNIVAL QUEEN AND BOY SUITOR "BABES IN WOOD"

Long Island Posse Seeks Couple Strangely Missing Since Saturday.

A posse of Hempstead citizens, led by County Detective Phillips Beaman, spent last night searching the woods between Hempstead and Rockville Centre, L. I., for Ethel Townsend, seventeen-year-old carnival queen, and William Schneider, a nineteen-year-old boy, who was recently paroled from Elmira Reformatory.

Both disappeared simultaneously last Saturday night from their homes in Hempstead. They were without funds, hats and attire in the lightest wear. The pair took no food with them and the authorities believe

BY DOCTOR'S ORDER

Physician Advises Mother to Give Father John's Medicine to Her Children.

"I have given my children Father John's Medicine when they are not feeling well and never have to worry, as the medicine always does great work. One of my children was sick and the doctor asked me what I was giving the little girl and I said, 'Father John's Medicine.' Give her all she can take' was his advice. She is now feeling better than ever. It is a wonderful medicine." (Signed) Mrs. Thompson, 2 St. Alphonse Ave., Roxbury, Mass.

As a tonic and body builder, Father John's Medicine has had more than 60 years of success. It is pure and wholesome nourishment for those who are weak and run down. Contains no alcohol or dangerous drugs, but it is a doctor's prescription more than 60 years in use.—Advt.

Combination of Many Fabrics in the Stylish Frock or Coat Allows Great Opportunity for Saving in Making Over All Good Parts Can Be Utilized.

By Mildred Loderick.

Though women may sigh regretfully at the great amount of material required for one frock, and feel that Madame à la Mode has forsaken her followers of limited means, the fact is this dominating person is not so discriminating as she seems. There is scarcely a frock or suit or wrap which she requires one to expend for numerous yards of one material, but rather are two and three fabrics combined just about equally, so that unusual opportunities are afforded for reconstruction of old garments. Those who need to, may utilize almost every good part of any frock or suit they may have and combine with it new material, to achieve something just as modish as if all new materials had been used.

Oftentimes one can pick up on the bargain counter small remnants which can be used to advantage with something one may have, so that the present styles which permit of these combinations are quite as economical as were the styles which required only a great amount of one fabric. Velveteen is combined with taffeta, satin, sateen and broadcloth; satin is combined with sorge, georgette crepe and woolen fabrics the same as taffeta. In scarcely is there any fabric that cannot be modestly combined with another. Even oddly this summer was seen combined with velvet, which was half velvet, half and half for frocks, which while seemingly incongruous were somehow obviously charming.

The frock I am showing would be pretty of velvet, taffeta and chiffon as depicted at the left. The full skirt is extended on one side of the front and back, which is a good way to the plain little bodice with headed buttons or buttons. Surrounding the hips two rows of head embroidery terminate under the box plats. Black head bands would be effective on almost any medium light color taffeta or broadcloth, and the same for the blouse. Either white or colored chiffon may complete the neck as a ruffle, and the sleeves as underpuffa, held with velvet bands.

The front view of this design shows an attractive use of ribbon which may be either satin taffeta, faille or velvet; as all these weaves are being used in profusion, and will be extremely popular mode of trimming all winter. Silk or wool voile would be pretty for the frock in dull slate blue with black velvet piping along the top of the skirt. Steel buttons on the bodice to hold the box plats, while a frill of silver net over one of self-color chiffon armholes is delightfully effective. The bodice and arms are also of silver net lined with blue chiffon. The skirt employs the chiffon for the upper part, starting from the sides where the box plats are laid and continuing around the back.

Such a frock of the sort which suits at school requires for half-way dressy occasions, and is youthful enough in design for them, though dignified enough for a woman of older years.

ANGRY SUITOR A SUICIDE.

Also Attempts Life of Widow Who May Die.

Mrs. Lulu Miller of Rockville Centre, L. I., was probably fatally wounded this afternoon by Luke Fagan, forty years old, a boaster, who is said to have begged Mrs. Miller to divorce her husband and marry him. Fagan then shot himself and died almost instantly. Mrs. Miller is the wife of Richard Miller, who was sentenced two years' sentence in Sing Sing Prison.

Fagan went to board in the Miller apartment on Park Avenue, Rockville Centre, over a year and a half ago, after Miller had gone to prison. Mrs. Miller said she boarded Fagan in order to support herself and four children.

SUBWAY TRAINS TIED UP.

Short Circuit Delays All Traffic for Ten Minutes.

Traffic throughout the subway system was tied up for ten minutes at 1 o'clock to-day by a short circuit, which resulted when workmen on the new Lexington Avenue connection south of Forty-second Street allowed a quantity of timbering to topple over on the switch.

All trains were halted while no serious damage or accidents occurred, according to company officials.

WEATHER this dress is made of plain material trimmed or of embroidery that makes its own finish. It is just as dainty and baby-like and charming as it can be. It is very simple, too, and mothers can make it in a short space of time. The tufts that are arranged in groups hold the fullness most charmingly. If a very fine dress is wanted it is well to see these tufts by hand, but if time is considered machine stitching can be made very dainty if extremely fine thread and fine stitches are used. You can finish the neck round, as it is here, and with a band, and the sleeves can be made short or long. The bodice is gathered in. The hem is trimmed with lace in insertion to be dainty. In the back view there is a suggestion of a backless dress with a dress with plain material for the sleeves and as a matter of course that means less labor for the manufacturer, plus a good own finish. If a very dainty frock were wanted and time and labor are not important considerations, having a child's train would be charming with the lower edge scalloped and embossed or finished with a braid or such a trimmings as a band item that is held by rows of dainty stitching, for all these treatments are fashionable, although not particularly voguish and it seems especially appropriate for the child's dress.

For the two-year-old, will be needed 2½ yards of material, 27 inches wide, 2 yards 36, or 1½ yards 44, with 3½ yards of insertion, to make as shown on the figure. The pattern is 27 inches wide with ½ yard of material 36 and 1½ yards of insertion to make as shown in the figure. The pattern No. 9192 is cut in sizes for 1, 2 and 4 years.

Stricken by Paralysis on Eve of Wedding

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—About to be married to Miss Helen Hammond of Millbrook, Clara Pitcher, twenty-three years old, a waitress, was stricken with infantile paralysis and died last night.

The wedding was to have taken place Sunday. On Friday Mr. Pitcher was taken ill and was removed to Valley Hospital. The disease, not at first being diagnosed as poliomyelitis, and Mr. Pitcher insisting upon the wedding arrangements being carried out, he was removed on Saturday to Miss Hammond's home. There paralysis set in and he was transferred to the hospital. Miss Hammond is regaining consciousness.

Fatal Riots in Dresden.

One Hundred and Eleven Persons Are Reported Killed.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Reports to The Hague says the correspondent of the Central News say eighty-five civilians, twenty-two soldiers and four policemen were killed in riots in Dresden last week. The disorders are said to have been brought on by a demonstration against the imposition of an increased income tax. Dr. Karl Lachmann, as a result of his appeal from the booking of the military court. The crowds were dispersed by troops after 100 persons had been arrested.

Last Day--Tomorrow---Thursday

Last Day of the August Sale of Wanamaker Furniture

The largest month's selling of furniture in the history of any retail organization comes to a close tomorrow, the last day of August.

Last Day for Furniture at Half Last Day for All August Prices

One day (to the vigilant) is enough time in which to furnish an entire house.

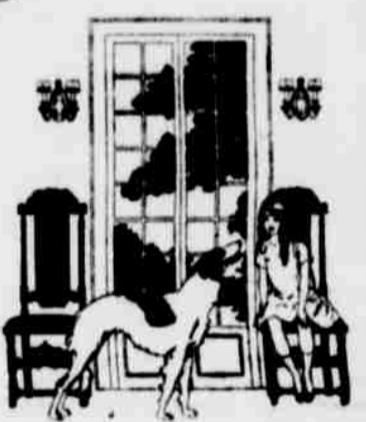

One day (to the laggard) slips by so fast that it is found only the next day—with deep regrets—for the missed opportunities.

In deciding the question whether to buy furniture now or later in Autumn please remember these three things:

1. All the furniture we are offering now at half, or at any reduction in price, is Wanamaker guaranteed standard furniture sold at its full fair price at other times of the year—prices that you will find marked on the furniture September 1st.

2. The offering includes our entire remaining stock of home furniture, on the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth galleries; not special lots that we wish to dispose of, but everything—for every room in the house (except the kitchen)—nothing reserved.

3. The furniture at half comprises hundreds of pieces newly reduced in price to close out odd pieces (left from broken sets), single sets (with no stock back of them) and patterns which cannot be carried in the smaller space allotted to furniture after the sale closes.

Our Last Word

Our last word is that we do not lose interest in the furniture when you buy it. We go with it into your home to see that it is properly set up and polished; we stay with it there in our guarantee to see that it gives satisfaction. The store is always at the other end of your telephone to make good anything, that, unforeseen, may go wrong.

It has been a fine business August. It has been a fine August Sale. We are happy if you are happy over the purchases you have made.
